

ADSL Line Surge Protection

NLightning - We anti-lightning!

OVERVIEW

ADSL is a type of digital subscriber line technology, allows a single telephone connection to be used for both ADSL service and voice calls at the same time. By using former copper telephone line to provide internet service, which makes ADSL being most commonly seen internet access equipment.

SOLUTION

- NLC4532-400
- NLC08CI

COMPLIANCE

- IEC61000-4-2
- IEC61000-4-5
- ITU-T K.21

BENEFIT

- Quick response
- Superior surge capability
- Low residual voltage

